malta's housing foundation project alternative economic models of housing especially focusing on top-down supported cooperatives projects in munich, germany gdansk (and polish) achievements in social development through a pro-active housing initiative during 90's and today the project understands itself as an administrative, ngo and political support & capacity building project especially in the ongoing Latvian administrative territorial reform aiming to give new incentives to re-think the classically used models of housing.

further-on the project wishes to promote ideas of alternative economic models, such as building cooperatives in times of an extremely insecure and overheated real-estate market.
